

ABOUT RAJWADI

15 years ago, it was 2003, Sudhir Hirpara opened a grocery store named, "Indian Super Market", simply named, for it being the first Indian grocery store in the area offering imported goods such as spices, herbs, teas, chocolates, canned goods, a variety of cheeses and yogurts.

10 years later, 2013, Sudhir Hirpara decided to expand his grocery operation to include a healthy vegetarian restaurant. "Rajwadi Vegetarian Indian Fast Food", with a unique approach to a vegetarian menu, made from fresh vegetables, no use of canned foods, no use of microwave or frozen foods.

Rajwadi's is committed to fine quality standard by serving with fresh vegetable. Our motto is, No Canned Foods, No Frozen Foods, No Microwave, Fresh Vegetables.
